Adkins Arboretum Offers Time Travel for Homeschoolers Series

Maryland's Eastern Shore has experienced tremendous change through time. The dinosaur Astrodon thrived here in the Early Cretaceous, Woodland Indians harvested tulip trees for their dug-out canoes, and settlers used pokeberries to make ink.

In Adkins Arboretum's Time Travel for Homeschoolers series, homeschool students will join Youth Program Coordinator Jenny Houghton to explore the history of the Eastern Shore through exciting hands-on activities, including target practice with hand-crafted bows and arrows, natural dye-making, and an archaeological dig. Designed for students ages 8 to 12, Time Travel for Homeschoolers will be held Mondays, February 3 to March 10, from 1 to 2:30 p.m.

Advance registration is required. The fee is $55 for members, $70 for non-members for all six classes in the series. A $10 discount is offered for siblings. Enrollment is limited, so early registration is recommended. For more information or to register, visit adkinsarboretum.org or call 410-634-2847, ext. 0.

Adkins Arboretum is a 400-acre native garden and preserve at the headwaters of the Tuckahoe Creek in Caroline County. Open year round, the Arboretum offers educational programs for all ages about nature and gardening. Through its Campaign to Build a Green Legacy, it will build the W. Flaccus and Ruth B. Stifel Center at Adkins

Arboretum and a “green” entranceway to broaden educational offerings and research initiatives promoting best practices in conservation and land stewardship. For additional information about Arboretum programs, visit www.adkinsarboretum.org or call 410-634-2847, ext. 0.
